Xerox Gives $15,500 to Local Community Programs and Services

In October, Xerox, through the company's Community Involvement Program, donated $15,500 to support local community programs and charitable organizations in Wilsonville and the surrounding area.

The Wilsonville Public Library received a donation of $3,800 from Xerox to buy and install an imaginative play area in the Library's young children's learning center. The indoor interactive play exhibit is designed to help children six and younger by providing early learning opportunities, improving motor skills, encouraging early literacy development, promoting social interaction and advancing physical development.

Xerox also donated $5,000 to the Wilsonville Library Foundation for the Library Foundation's endowment fund that provides long-term on-going funding to support the Library's many different programs.

Xerox also gave the Kiwanis Club of Wilsonville a $5,000 donation to support the club's promotion of the Imagination Library program which is a free early-literacy program that provides children under the age of 5 a free book each month. To learn more about the program visit www.ImaginationLibrary.com.

Former Xerox employee Dick Spence explains, "Xerox is proud of having a long track record of giving back to good causes. In Wilsonville, since 1999, Xerox has given over $100,000 to community programs and charitable organizations."

In addition to donating to the local donations Xerox also gave a $1,700 donation to Parrott Creek Parent and Child Services which is a non-profit based in Oregon City that helps participants end disruptive patterns by teaching youth and family members skills to control and change impulsive negative behaviors.

Mayor's Message:

Let's Move Our Community Forward Together

Now that the election is over I want to say how humbled and honored I am to be re-elected as Mayor of Wilsonville. Thank you for your vote of confidence!

During the run-up to the election I heard from many in our community who are frustrated with increasing traffic congestion around I-5, concerned about how we grow responsibly and are worried by the rising cost of housing.

Our community and metro region are experiencing growing pains as people move here from around Oregon and across the U.S. Elected officials—the people you vote for to serve in public office—need to do everything we can do within our ability to address these issues.

In my upcoming four-year term I will continue to actively advocate for improvements to our transportation system that provide better mobility options for getting around town or commuting to work. I will work with members of the community to ensure that Wilsonville grows responsibly and to seek solutions and resources to address issues around the cost of housing.

I am confident in my fellow City Council members, who work well together, to address our community's top priorities. Unlike the polarized national political scene, members of the City Council are elected to non-partisan offices and we have a very good and positive working relationship with one another. While City Councilors may not always agree, the City Council has traditionally worked well together to build consensus and take action.

I am pleased to welcome our newest City Councilor, Kristin Akervall, who joins along with Councilors Scott Starr, Susie Stevens and Charlotte Lehan. We all want to thank outgoing City Councilor Julie Fitzgerald for her four years of dedicated public service.

Now that the election is over, let's turn our attention to working constructively together on our community's challenges in a collaborative fashion for the betterment of our town. While trying to influence the national dialogue may be more difficult, working to improve your local community is a real difference that you can make.

I invite you to get involved and share your thoughts, concerns and priorities with me and the other members of City Council so that we can move our community forward together! My door is open and ear available to hear your thoughts! Reach me at 503-896-0048 or mayor@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

Fun Times at the Fall Harvest Festival

In October hundreds of people attended the Fall Harvest Festival and many enjoyed horse-drawn wagon rides.

SMART Wins Federal Transportation Grant for a New Bus

Wilsonville's public-transit agency, South Metro Area Regional Transit (SMART), has won a $320,000 grant award from the U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Transit Agency (FTA) to purchase a new 31-passenger diesel bus. This most recent award is in addition to a 2014 FTA grant award of $638,000 that SMART received to purchase two more large-sized 31-passenger diesel buses that have recently been delivered and are to be put into service in the coming days.

In all, the two grant awards totaling just under $1 million allow the local transit agency to replace three older buses with three new lower-emission diesel buses. The most recent grant is to be used to replace a 16-year-old "high-floor" bus with a brand new more accessible "low-floor" bus that is closer to street level and easier for passengers to board. SMART plans to order the new "low floor" bus later this year and expects to receive delivery in 2018.

The federal grant awards cover the majority of the cost to purchase new buses, thereby leveraging relatively small amounts of local funds with substantial amounts of federal funds. SMART's required matching contribution to purchase the three new buses is just under 14 percent of the total cost.

Congressman Kurt Schrader, who provided a letter of support for the grant request, said, "Public transit plays such an essential role in our communities, sometimes providing the only transportation option for many, including commuting workers and the elderly. Wilsonville's SMART system is vital in connecting the Willamette Valley and Portland metro area. This grant will continue to expand and improve SMART's ability to connect our communities and transport those who rely on public transit most."

Mayor Tim Knapp stated that, "Wilsonville appreciates the support of members of the Oregon Congressional delegation, area legislators and local businesses to win this federal grant that allows us to maintain and improve service to transit riders. Many members of our community find our SMART system to be a helpful, practical way to access work, schools, shopping and services, and increased use of public transit helps reduce traffic and emissions. Reducing traffic can benefit the timely movement of freight and the overall health of our economy and environment."

Transit Director Stephan Lashbrook said, "SMART appreciates federal support that underwrites the majority of costs to replace old buses with new U.S.-made buses that are more fuel-efficient, cleaner-burning and more dependable. Overall this FTA grant program is good for the economy and environment, as well as our riders and the local businesses that support SMART."

During the most recent round of grant-making, the FTA Bus and Bus Facilities Grant Program funded 61 projects in 41 states, the Virgin Islands, and Indian Country, awarding nearly $211 million to replace, rehabilitate, and purchase transit buses and related equipment, and construct bus-related facilities. SMART is the only public transit agency in Oregon that received a grant from the current round of FTA funding.

Program Provides Seniors Meals and Safety Checks

In November City Manager Bryan Cosgrove rode along with volunteer Home Delivered Meal program drivers Shellie Silliman and Marsha Herron to bring 38 meals to homebound seniors throughout Wilsonville.

Cosgrove states, "The City's home delivered meals program is a critical service because not only does the program provide our most vulnerable community members a healthy meal five times a week, the visits also serve as a regular safety check for each of these elderly households."

Wilsonville's CCC Branch Supports the Arts

You may be surprised to learn that Clackamas Community College's Wilsonville campus located at 29353 Town Center Loop East is a great place to see art.

Recently the college arranged with local sculpture artist Jesse Swickard to locate a large outdoor metal sculpture called Nest in front of the main entrance to the college.

Swickard explains that "Nest is all about community. A nest is a home that supports maturity, growth and development."

In addition to the new sculpture, the campus is also now showing the photography of Lisa Smith through Dec. 23. This exhibit, which is free and open to the public, explores the epic in the everyday and the examination and reinterpretation of the mundane.

The gallery is open Monday through Friday, 7 am – 5 pm. To see more of Smith's work, visit www.smithlisa.com.

For more information about the sculpture or the exhibition, contact Joyce Gabriel at 503-594-0950 or joyceg@clackamas.edu.

Chief's Corner: Holiday Shopping and Safety Tips

We are quickly approaching the gift-buying and gift-giving holiday season. Unfortunately, the holidays are also a time of year when the Police Department sees a surge of car break-ins, thefts and burglaries.

To help make sure your gifts remain secure, here are a few tips to maintain a crime-free holiday season:

Police Chief Jeff Smith

Shopping at the Mall

- Always lock your car when you are out shopping — an unlocked door is an open invitation to car prowlers.
- Do not leave your gifts or other items of value out in the open where they can be seen—it is very easy to break a window and take those items.
- Put your gifts and other items of value in the trunk of your car where they are more secure and not in plain sight.
- Park in well-lit, high-traffic areas whenever possible.
- Be aware of your surroundings and those around you as you come and go from parking lots.
- When you shop, return to your car only after you have finished for the day and are about to return home.
- Remember it only takes seconds for someone to break into your car and steal the contents.
- Report any suspicious activity to your local police department.
- File a crime report if anything is stolen from you or your vehicle.

Shopping Online

- You should also exercise caution when shopping online. Here are some online shopping pointers from the Better Business Bureau:
- Research the online merchant before you buy — record their web address, physical location, phone number and where they maintain their business license.
- Study the company's refund and return policies before you place an order.

- Avoid using the same passwords that you use on other sites and do not use established numbers, such as your house number, birthdate or your telephone or Social Security number.
- Before you buy make sure you know the price, shipping and handling charges, any product or service guarantees and when you will receive your order.
- Only provide your credit card information online in a secure environment—look for the prefix "https://" in your web browser to make sure it is secure.
- Keep a copy of your order and the confirmation number for the purchase.
- Pay by credit card or a pre-paid credit card so your transaction is protected under the Fair Credit Billing Act in case of fraud.
- Know when the package is to be delivered so you can arrange for it to be promptly picked up off of the front porch.

On another note, December is Drinking and Drugged Driving Awareness Month. More than 12,000 people were killed or injured by drinking and drugged drivers in the State of Oregon this past decade, with a financial cost of more than $9 billion. Residents and communities need to continue to demand that friends and family members be responsible, avoid driving under the influence of any intoxicants, and condemn irresponsible and life-threatening driving choices. By working together toward a common goal of reducing the incidents of drinking and drugged driving, we all will benefit from safer roads and safer communities.

On behalf of the entire Wilsonville Police Department, we hope these tips help to ensure that you and your family have a safe holiday season. Merry Christmas, Happy Hanukkah, Joyous Kwanzaa and a Happy New Year to you all.

Jeff Smith, Chief of Police

Tips & Advice on Winter Weather Commuting

As we head from the fall into the winter, the risk of temperature dropping below freezing goes up. Which is why now is a good time to provide commuters the following advice and tips on winter weather commuting:

- Remember to dress warmly as the wait for the bus or train can be delayed in inclement weather. If you can, bring a change of clothes to store at work, including dry socks and shoes.
- Before you leave home, check for delays and cancellations on-line. Sign up for rider alerts and download the SPOT ETA App for real time information.

- Consider taking transit to instead of driving.
- Sign up for a carpool at drivelessconnect.com, a ride matching tool that matches you with people going your way for work and play.

City Invites 'Community Enhancement' Project Ideas

The City of Wilsonville is accepting suggestions from the public for project ideas that can enhance the Wilsonville community and be considered for funding by the Wilsonville-Metro Community Enhancement Program. The relatively new program provides the community an opportunity to advance a wide range of projects that might lack funding.

The funds may be used on a range of projects that seek to:

- Improve the appearance or environmental quality of the community.
- Reduce the amount or toxicity of waste.
- Increase reuse and recycling opportunities.
- Result in rehabilitation or upgrade of real or personal property owned or operated by a nonprofit.
- Result in the preservation/enhancement of wildlife, riparian zones, wetlands, and forest lands.
- Improve public awareness and the opportunities to enjoy and appreciate natural areas.
- Result in improvement to, or an increase in, recreational areas and programs.
- Result in improvement in safety.
- Benefit youth, seniors, low-income persons or underserved populations.

This past spring, $79,500 in funds were allocated for the first time to five projects:

- Memorial Park "Dog Park" Relocation Project: Award of $25,000 to sponsor City of Wilsonville Parks & Recreation Department.
- "Bee Stewards" Wilsonville Pollinator Improvement Project: Award of $21,433 to sponsors City of Wilsonville Community Development Department/Natural Resources Division and Northwest Center for Alternatives to Pesticides (NCAP).
- Multifamily Waste-Reduction and Recycling Proj- ect: Award of up to $16,000 to sponsors Clackamas County Department of Business and Community Services/Sustainability Division and Republic Services of Clackamas and Washington Counties.

- Frog Pond Church Campus Restoration Project: Award of up to $10,000 to sponsor Frog Pond Church Meridian United Church of Christ.
- Fluorescent Mercury-Lamp Business Recycling Program: Award of $7,110 to sponsors Clackamas County Department of Business and Community Services/Sustainability Division and Republic Services of Clackamas and Washington Counties.

The Community Enhancement Program is funded by a per-ton fee charged by Metro regional government on solid-waste transfer stations located throughout the greater Portland region. As the host community of Republic Services' transfer station on Ridder Road, the City is now investing the new source of funds into a variety of community enhancement projects. Metro estimates that in 2017 the program is expected to have approximately $90,000 to allocate or roll-over into future funding rounds.

Anyone may nominate a project for consideration that improves the community. While not designed as 'grant program,' projects may be nominated by a sponsoring organization that has the capacity to oversee and document implementation; these kinds of submissions require additional documentation for cost estimates, organizational capacity, etc. Project nominations for the program are available online at www.ci.Wilsonville.or.us/CEP and due by Monday, Jan. 16.

Nominations for compliance with applicable laws and regulations and reviewed for cost estimates and feasibility. Projects are advanced for consideration by the committee, which is comprised of four community members—Chair Brad Hughbanks, Vice Chair Larry Beck, Kate Johnson and Jimmy Lee, and two City Council members, in the spring.

Oregon Tech Enrollment Hits Record High

Oregon Institute of Technology’s (Oregon Tech’s) efforts to meet student demand for Science-Technology-Engineering-Math ‘STEM’ education and polytechnic degrees has led to a 9.3 percent growth in headcount over last year, for a total of 446 additional students.

This fall’s increase takes Oregon Tech to an all-time record of 5,232 students, up from 4,786 in fall 2015. Oregon Tech enrollment has increased more than Oregon Tech enrollment has increased more than 65 percent over the last 10 years.

65 percent over the last 10 years as the university has expanded its footprint in Oregon, including growth at the new Wilsonville campus, via online courses and new degree offerings in Klamath Falls and other sites.

Oregon Tech Interim President Jay Kenton said, “Our unique polytechnic approach and our graduates’ high return on investment are getting noticed by students, and by employers. Companies need STEM graduates in Oregon Tech’s high-demand degree fields, including engineering, technology, and healthcare. Our 90 percent success rate of graduates being employed or seeking advanced degrees within six months of leaving us, and our high average starting salaries of about $55,000, illustrate the value of an Oregon Tech education.”

Oregon Tech’s Wilsonville campus continues to meet Portland-metro area demand, showing a more modest increase of 1.6 percent, to a total of 836 students, than seen in the last four years following the opening of the campus in 2012. Both credit hours and full-time equivalent growth in Wilsonville showed an increase of 2.2%, with students—the majority of whom are working adults—taking larger credit loads than seen in the past.

The Oregon Tech student-body is more diverse geographically than ever, with students from 47 states and 24 countries earning degree from one of the campuses locations. Across the board, resident and non-resident student enrollment grew 9.1% and 9.4%, respectively. International students, while still a modest number at Oregon Tech, increased by more than 18% with the highest numbers coming from Saudi Arabia and Indonesia. Just over half of Oregon Tech’s students attend part-time, with some students transferring in from community colleges or other four-year universities and generally taking longer to complete a degree than the traditional student of prior decades.

over right away, such as a rest area or a store parking lot. Studies show a 15-20 minute nap is all it takes for most people to restore alertness – reducing what could be the risk of fatal mistakes. The National Sleep Foundation suggests drinking a caffeinated beverage, then taking a quick nap, and you’ll get the benefits of both, because it takes about 20 minutes for caffeine to have its impact on the body. Whatever you do, it’s important to listen to your body and respond appropriately. For more tips on how to “drive alert, arrive alive,” visit www.drowsydriving.org.

Drivers Who

Drift from Lane are Often Dozing, Ill or Distracted Drivers who crash as a result of drifting out of their lanes often are asleep, suffering a medical emergency, or blacked out due to drug or alcohol use, according to research by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. This new research will help in the development of crash avoidance technology to help reduce traffic crashes as a result of lane departure. In Oregon, about 42 percent of fatal and serious injury crashes are due to roadway departure (2010-2014).

Don’t Be a Drowsy Driver

Sleepiness can impair driving performance as much as alcohol, studies show. According to the Institute of Medicine, more than 70 million Americans suffer from a sleep disorder. A recent study by the American Automobile Association (AAA) estimates that one out of every six (16.5%) deadly traffic accidents, and one out of eight (12.5%) crashes requiring hospitalization of car drivers or passengers is due to drowsy driving (AAA, 2010).

Oregonians will be adjusting our clocks to end daylight savings time on Sunday, Nov. 6. ODOT is reminding drivers to adjust for that extra hour to ensure you don’t get sleepy when out on the roads in the days and nights following the adjustment. Watch for signs of drowsiness, such as problems focusing, blinking frequently, and/or having heavy eyelids, trouble remembering the last few miles, yawning repeatedly, or rolling down the windows or turning up the radio to “keep you awake.”

City Council Thanks Julie Fitzgerald for Her Service

For the past four years City Councilor Julie Fitzgerald has served the residents of Wilsonville, but her four-year term is coming to an end and now is the time for her to make room for a new leader. In the recent general election Kristin Akervall was elected to fill the vacant City Council position beginning in January.

At the City Council meeting in November Fitzgerald states, “From the beginning I planned to run for one term because I think it is great to have different people running for office and learning from the experience. I look forward to having more time to spend with my grandson. I do plan to stay involved.”

2016. During her term she sought to encourage more residents to have their voice heard and to get more engaged in planning Wilsonville’s future. As a City Councilor, Fitzgerald has served as the Council’s liaison for the Library Board, Planning Commission and currently for the Development Review Board Panels.

In reflecting upon Fitzgerald’s contribution on the City Council Mayor Tim Knapp states, “I appreciate greatly the calm, sensible approach Julie brought to our City Council. Her perspectives are insightful, and her good will is always apparent. Julie’s contributions over the past four years have helped make our community a better place.”

City Councilor Susie Stevens shares. “It has been an honor and a pleasure to serve on the City Council alongside Councilor Julie Fitzgerald. Julie brought an informed perspective and broad understanding to this important role. She also has a distinctive sense of humor that brightened our meetings. My hope is she continues to remain engaged in the community. “Best of luck to you, Julie.”

Over the past four years she has been a solid advocate for the less fortunate in our community, as well as advocating for additional measures to strengthen community engagement.”

Reports from City Boards and Commissions

Council Approves Marijuana Ordinance in Case Voters Remove Current Ban and Approves Villebois Zone Map Amendment

On Nov. 7, the City Council held a second reading and approved an ordinance that created time, place and manner regulations on the operation of marijuana-related businesses that may locate within the City, however, the ordinance is no longer needed since voters decided to continue the ban on marijuana-related businesses in Wilsonville.

The Council sought to be prepared with rules that govern where, when and how marijuana-related businesses can locate within Wilsonville in the event the ban was discontinued by voters at the Nov. 8 general election. This ordinance is no longer needed and will not apply given the outcome on the related ballot measure. The ordinance would have established local regulations for the operation of marijuana-related businesses that include a 2,000-foot buffer from residential zones, schools, City parks, or any City-owned property and also a 1,000-foot buffer between marijuana-related businesses.

The Council held a second reading and approved a Zone Map amendment from Public Facility to the Village Zone for of a 1.29-acre site located in the Villebois Village Center at the northeast corner of Costa Circle West and Barber Street to allow the development of 16 detached row houses along with associated streets. The proposal was previously approved by Development Review Board (DRB) Panel B on Sept. 26 with a DRB recommendation to support the Zone Map amendment.

During the communications portion of the meeting Metro Councilor Craig Dirksen provided the City Council an update on activities of Metro regional government.

During work session prior to the meeting, the Council heard reports and held discussions regarding the Boones Ferry Road to Brown Road Connector and a draft ordinance for a residential parking-permit program now under consideration.

Community members are able to watch a replay of all or a portion of the City Council meetings on Comcast/Xfinity Ch. 30, Frontier Ch. 32 or on the City's video-on-demand service at www.ci.wilsonville.or.us/WilsonvilleTV.

The DRB Panel B meeting originally scheduled for Oct. 24 was cancelled due to a lake of agenda items.

City Council Adopts Urban Renewal Plan and Restricted Truck Zone for Eastern Segment of Wilsonville Road

On Oct. 17, the City Council held a second reading and approved the Coffee Creek Urban Renewal Plan. The plan, which covers approximately 258 acres of land located in the northwest quadrant of Wilsonville bounded by Day Road, Ridder Road, 95th Avenue and Grahams Ferry Road, establishes how the City's Urban Renewal Agency proposes to fund the public infrastructure required to transform the now largely undeveloped rural area into an urban employment center.

The Council held a first reading and approved an ordinance that creates time, place and manner regulations on the operation of marijuana-related businesses that may locate within the City should voters reject Ballot Measure 3-486, thereby voicing a desire to have the City remove its current ban on marijuana-related businesses. The Council seeks to be prepared with rules that govern where, when and how marijuana-related businesses can locate within Wilsonville in the event the ban is discontinued by voters. If voters vote to continue the ban, this Ordinance will be moot and will not apply in that the facilities will continue to be banned. The ordinance establishes local regulations for the operation of marijuana-related businesses.

During the meeting the Council held a second reading and adopted a "Restricted Truck Zone" ordinance that prohibits semi-trucks from passing through an eastern segment of Wilsonville Road between Town Center Loop East and Boeckman Road. The truck restriction allows local deliveries, but does not allow semi-trucks to use Wilsonville Road as a cut through alternative to the freeway.

The Council also held a second reading and approved an ordinance to address evolving wireless communications facilities, including the siting of small-cell/distributed-antenna systems. The Council recognizes the need to balance the concern over potential aesthetic issues related to the proliferation of wireless communications facilities with the benefit that these providers can offer in enhancing cellular coverage for Wilsonville residents, businesses and visitors.

The Council held a first reading and approved a Zone Map amendment from Public Facility to the Village Zone for of a 1.29-acre site located in the Villebois Village Center at the northeast corner of Costa Circle West and Barber Street to allow the development of 16 detached row houses along with associated streets. The proposal was previously approved by Development Review Board (DRB) Panel B on Sept. 26 with a DRB recommendation to support the Zone Map amendment.

During the communications portion of the meeting staff introduced two newly hired employees: Building Official Dan Carlson and Assistant City Attorney Amanda Guile-Hinman.

Under Mayor's Business the Council appointed Karla Tovar, a Marketing Communications and Tourism Specialist at World of Speed, to serve on the Tourism Promotion Committee to fill an unexpired term ending June 30, 2018.

During work session prior to the meeting, City Council heard reports and held discussions regarding the process to appoint a new Municipal Court Judge to replace Judge Gleeson who is retiring from the position. The Council also heard reports and discussed the Basalt Creek Concept Plan, French Prairie Bridge project, and various changes to reduce traffic congestion at Boones Ferry and Wilsonville Road during peak travel times.

City Studies Publicly-Owned Fiber Optics Network

The City of Wilsonville is in the initial stages of studying if, and how, the City should invest in developing a publicly-owned fiber optics network for residential and commercial users and seeks input from the community on such a plan. The overall goal of the assessment is to determine whether the community has a need

Fiber Optic Network Survey and Online Open House
• Survey, Dec 1–Jan 31, www.ci.wilsonville.or.us/fiber for, and supports, City investment in development of a publicly-supported fiber optics network and if so, the plan intends to identify steps and strategies to fund and build such a network.

Many cities in the region and throughout the United States already have developed publicly-owned fiber optics infrastructure. These types of networks are created in order to provide community members and local businesses more competition, faster internet service, access to other cost-effective technology solutions and increased bandwidth. Publicly-owned fiber networks also serve as an economic development incentive to attract high-tech and other types of companies to a city or region.

To lead the development of the plan, the City contracted with CTC Technology and Energy (CTC), an independent technology consulting firm with over 30 years of experience with public and non-profit entities. On this project CTC is responsible for researching, recommending and drafting the plan for the City Council's consideration and anticipated adoption.

To gather input on the proposal, the City is conducting an online survey Dec. 1–Jan. 31 that asks a variety of questions about existing services in the community, priorities and gaps. Community members are invited to complete the online survey and visit an online open house that seeks to engage and inform the community about fiber. Please visit www.ci.wilsonville.or.us/Fiber starting Dec. 1 to participate.

In January, City staff and consultants are also holding discussions with local business representatives, City leaders and staff to gather further input.

Republic Services Wishes You a Happy Low-Waste Holiday Season

The holiday season means more food, family time, gifts and lots more waste. On average, Americans throw away approximately 25% more garbage between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day. For example over 2.65 billion holiday cards are sold each year, which is enough to fill a football field ten stories high!

To help reduce holiday waste, Republic Services offers a free program to recycle holiday lights! If you have old holiday lights, bring them to Republic's Wilsonville facility at 10295 SW Ridder Road, Wilsonville for recycling. At the public recycling depot near the main gate, there is a large box where you can drop your old lights for free recycling. Please know that the lights will be handled from here in an environmentally responsible manner. When purchasing new lights, choose durable LED lights to conserve energy and resources.

Waste-Reduction Tips

Here are some waste-reduction tips to take this holiday season:

- Give experiences rather than physical things. This could be cooking lessons, a movie or sporting event tickets, a massage at the spa, membership to a museum or a fishing trip.
- Take reusable cloth bags with you for your holiday shopping trips.
- If you do give physical gifts, add an eco-conscious message to a gift that reduces waste - like a reusable water bottle or lunch box.
- Reduce paper waste by opting to send electronic holiday cards. If you are sending holiday cards, purchase recycled-content materials.
- Use earth-friendly giftwrapping alternatives such as old newspapers, posters or maps rather than buying new wrapping paper for presents. Be creative and use old scarves or bandanas to wrap presents. You can even make your gift extra special by wrapping it with your children's artwork!
- Keep gift bags, boxes and holiday gift wrappers for use the following year.
- Save energy and make your lights last longer by turning off or unplugging the lights during the day. By following these tips, you can reduce waste and save time, money, and stress.

Republic Services wishes you happy holiday season!

TVF&R Wants You to Have a Happy & Safe Holiday Season

Tualatin Valley Fire & Rescue (TVF&R) wants you to have a happy holiday season and avoid a devastating fire by using caution with your decorations and preparations for the holidays. To help you along the way, we offer the following safety tips.

Cooking

Cooking fires are the leading cause of residential fires. You can minimize your risk.

- Don't leave cooking unattended—turn off burners or set a timer if you leave the room.
- Heat cooking oil slowly, and turn down the heat if it begins to smoke.
- Ensure cooking surfaces are clean and clear of combustibles.
- If you have a stovetop fire, turn off the heat source, slide a lid or cookie sheet over the fire from the side, and leave the pan covered until it has cooled. If you have an oven fire, leave the oven door closed and turn off the oven. If the fire grows larger, get everyone out of the house and call 911.

Candles

- Trim candle wicks to ¼-inch before burning and use sturdy candle holders.
- Keep candles away from decorations and other combustibles.
- Always extinguish candles before going to bed or leaving your home.
- Consider using flameless, battery-operated candles.

Holiday Trees

A dry holiday tree is extremely flammable, so it's important to keep your tree fresh.

- Make a fresh cut at the base of the tree before placing it in your stand.
- Immediately add water and check the water level every day. Don't allow the water level to drop below the base of the tree.
- Place your tree away from heat sources.
- Turn off the tree lights when going to bed or leaving the house.
- When the needles begin to fall from your tree, it should be removed.

Holiday Lighting

- Use only UL-approved lights when decorating your home and follow manufacturer instructions.
- Never use light sets with broken sockets, frayed and/or cracked wires, or missing sockets. Any of these hazards may cause an electrical shock or fire. TVF&R wishes you and your family a safe and happy holiday season!

Cool Water Temperatures and Tree Plantings Support Fish Habitat and Improve Water Quality

The temperature of the water in our local rivers, streams, ponds and lakes has a profound effect on the health of native plants and animals that live or reproduce in these various aquatic habitats.

Native fish, such as salmon and trout, thrive in cool temperatures. When water temperatures rise too high for too long however, these fish become physically stressed and are more likely to get fungal infections and have other difficulties. In addition, warm water holds less dissolved oxygen than cool water which is harmful to aquatic life. For example in these types of conditions, salmon and trout suffer a variety of ill effects, such as decreased spawning success and even death, if water temperatures remain above 77–78°F for an extended period of time.

The most common source of heat for fresh-water bodies is generally the sun. When trees along waterways are cut down and cleared sun exposure and the water temperature rise.

Water temperature also vary as a result of environmental changes. For example the amount or rainfall impacts the amount of surface runoff, groundwater and the flow from upstream tributaries. In the spring, snowmelt generally lowers water temperatures and in the spring and summer water temperatures generally increase.

The temperature of water in local streams, lakes, ponds and rivers also changes due to natural and human causes such as impervious surfaces, that include streets, parking lots and buildings that do not allow water to infiltrate and recharge groundwater and instead flow directly into nearby waterways.

Runoff from impervious surfaces also contains pollutants, such as motor oil, hydrocarbons from exhaust, leftover fertilizer, overspray from applying pesticides and herbicides, and trash that then flows into and pollutes nearby waterways.

To protect local water quality the City requires land developers to build and maintain stormwater management facilities like rain gardens, swales and ponds that help treat and control runoff from impervious surfaces before they enter local tributaries. A significant amount of the runoff is captured by these stormwater management facilities, and by the time the runoff reaches a stream, the water temperatures should be closer to normal stream temperatures.

For more information, please contact Luke Bushman, Stormwater Management Coordinator, at 503-570-1552 or bushman@ci.wilsonville.or.us.

Get Up to Five Free Trees

To promote healthy cool streams in Wilsonville, the City offers community members and local property owners up to five free native tree seedlings to plant on their property. The City encourages plantings along streams and other water bodies to reduce stream temperature and pollutants. The trees are obtained at a local nursery.

For more information and to get a tree coupon for five trees, contact Luke Bushman, Stormwater Coordinator, at 503-570-1552; bushman@ci.wilsonville.or.us.
